

MEGI® Stop Buffers

Megi with parabolic cross-section

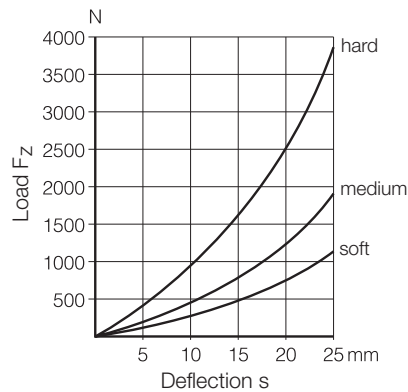

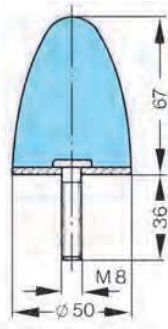

The special design of Megi with their parabolic cross-section allows them to yield readily to initial impact while maintaining highly progressive spring characteristics. They can be used as shock absorbers to limit the amplitude of vibration and spring deflection.

Other dimensions and materials are available on request

Part No. 741 279

Part No. 741 280

Part No. 741 278

